JAPAN'S EXPENSE MEANS MORE TAXES

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 16.-The budget submitted to the leaders of both houses of the Diet shows receipts of 611,040,000 yen and expenditures of 615,950,000 yen for the fiscal year. It is proposed to meet the deficit by increasing the tax on sake, beer, alcohol, augar, and kerosene, The sugar increase, on four standards, averages 40 per cent. The deficit is due to over-expenditure on the army and navy and the nationalization of railroads.
